

HUMANITARIAN RELIEF & REHABILITATION

Responding with Compassion. Restoring Dignity. Rebuilding Lives and Resilience.

Overview

Emergencies and disasters can change lives within moments. Floods, fires, storms, extreme weather, displacement and other crises can disrupt homes, livelihoods, food security, healthcare, education and access to essential services.

For vulnerable rural communities, the consequences can continue long after the immediate emergency has passed. Loss of productive assets, income, household belongings and access to basic services can make recovery particularly difficult.

Through its Humanitarian Relief & Rehabilitation sector, ISLAH Welfare Foundation seeks to support individuals, families and communities affected by emergencies through a compassionate, need-based and community-centred approach—connecting immediate relief with recovery, rehabilitation and resilience.

Our Objective

To support vulnerable and crisis-affected communities with appropriate humanitarian assistance while helping create pathways towards recovery, livelihood restoration, rehabilitation and greater resilience.

Our interventions will be guided by assessed needs, local circumstances, available resources and appropriate partnerships.

Our Approach

01. Emergency Response

Supporting appropriate and timely humanitarian interventions during emergencies and disasters, based on identified community needs.

02. Essential Needs & Dignity

Helping vulnerable families access essential necessities such as shelter-related support, clothing, household requirements and other basic supplies.

03. Seasonal & Disaster-Specific Support

Responding to seasonal and local humanitarian challenges such as floods, winter, heatwaves, storms and other emergencies, according to needs and available resources.

04. Vulnerable Community Support

Giving appropriate attention to children, women, older persons, persons with disabilities, economically vulnerable households and other groups facing heightened hardship.

05. Livelihood Recovery

Supporting the transition from immediate relief towards restoration of livelihoods, productive capacity, skills, income opportunities and economic resilience.

06. Rehabilitation & Resilience

Encouraging longer-term recovery through community participation, preparedness, rehabilitation and locally appropriate solutions.

Key Initiatives

Our Humanitarian Relief & Rehabilitation work is organised around four interconnected initiatives:

01. Emergency Relief & Disaster Response Programme

A core humanitarian response programme addressing immediate needs arising from disasters, emergencies and crisis situations.

02. Shelter, Clothing & Necessities Support

Supporting affected and vulnerable families with essential household, clothing and shelter-related necessities following emergencies and periods of severe hardship.

03. Seasonal & Disaster-Specific Relief Support

Providing need-based support during seasonal hardship and specific emergencies such as floods, winter, heatwaves, storms and other local crises.

04. Livelihood Recovery & Rehabilitation Support

Helping affected households move beyond immediate relief towards livelihood restoration, rehabilitation and greater economic resilience.

Emergency Response → Basic Needs → Seasonal/Disaster Response → Livelihood Recovery

Who We Seek to Support

ISLAH seeks to give particular attention to:

- Families affected by disasters and emergencies
- Vulnerable and economically disadvantaged households
- Rural and underserved communities
- Displaced or crisis-affected families
- Children and students affected by emergencies
- Women and women-headed households
- Older persons and persons with disabilities
- Small and marginal farmers
- Livelihood-dependent families
- Other vulnerable groups identified through appropriate needs assessment

Humanitarian Focus

Rural communities can face additional challenges during emergencies because of limited access to essential services.

ISLAH therefore seeks to give particular attention to underserved rural areas and promote responses that are:

Local • Inclusive • Need-Based • Dignified • Community-Centred • Practical

We believe communities should not only receive assistance during a crisis but should also have opportunities to participate in their own recovery and rebuilding.

From Relief to Resilience

Humanitarian assistance is most meaningful when it creates a pathway towards recovery.

RELIEF

Meeting immediate humanitarian needs.

RECOVERY

Helping families begin restoring normal life.

REHABILITATION

Supporting restoration of livelihoods, assets and essential capacities.

REBUILDING

Strengthening household and community systems.

RESILIENCE

Helping communities become better prepared for future challenges.

Expected Impact

Through appropriate programmes and partnerships, ISLAH seeks to contribute to:

- Timely and dignified humanitarian assistance
- Improved access to essential necessities
- Support for disaster-affected and vulnerable families
- Greater protection and well-being during crisis
- Continuity of essential support where feasible
- Livelihood restoration and economic recovery
- Community participation in recovery
- Greater awareness and preparedness
- Stronger household and community resilience

Our Vision

Communities that can withstand crisis, recover with dignity and rebuild with greater resilience.

ISLAH envisions a future where vulnerable communities affected by emergencies are not left behind—where immediate humanitarian support can become a bridge towards recovery, rehabilitation, sustainable livelihoods and a more resilient future.

Our Commitment

Humanitarian work is not only about providing relief during a crisis. It is also about restoring dignity, protecting livelihoods, supporting recovery and strengthening the capacity of communities to face future challenges.

ISLAH seeks to build a responsible humanitarian approach that connects compassion with action, relief with recovery, and recovery with resilience.

“Relief responds to a crisis. Rehabilitation restores possibilities. Resilience prepares communities for tomorrow.”

Emergency Relief & Disaster Response Programme

Responding with Compassion. Reaching People in Crisis. Supporting Recovery with Dignity.

Overview

Emergencies and disasters can disrupt lives within hours. Floods, fires, storms, extreme weather, displacement, accidents and other crises can cause loss of shelter, food insecurity, livelihood disruption and limited access to essential services.

Rural and economically vulnerable communities can face additional challenges due to limited access to healthcare, transportation, markets, communication and institutional support.

Through the Emergency Relief & Disaster Response Programme, ISLAH Welfare Foundation seeks to support affected communities through timely, need-based and dignified humanitarian assistance, while helping create pathways towards recovery and rehabilitation.

Our Objective

To support individuals and families affected by emergencies and disasters with appropriate immediate assistance and, where feasible, facilitate their transition from relief to recovery, rehabilitation and resilience.

Our Approach

01. Emergency Needs Assessment

Understanding the nature and scale of an emergency, identifying priority needs and supporting responses based on available resources and field realities.

02. Immediate Humanitarian Response

Facilitating essential assistance such as food, drinking water, hygiene materials, household necessities and other appropriate relief support.

03. Vulnerable Household Support

Giving particular attention to children, women, older persons, persons with disabilities, economically vulnerable families and others facing heightened hardship.

04. Community-Based Response

Working with local communities, volunteers, institutions and appropriate partners to encourage coordinated and responsible humanitarian action.

05. Recovery & Rehabilitation Linkages

Connecting immediate relief, wherever feasible, with livelihood recovery, rehabilitation and longer-term resilience.

Implementation Approach

- Emergency food and essential supplies
- Drinking water and hygiene support
- Shelter-related and household assistance
- Clothing and basic necessities
- Support for vulnerable households
- Health assistance and appropriate referrals
- Education and child-support interventions
- Livelihood recovery and rehabilitation
- Community awareness and preparedness
- Coordination with appropriate institutions and partners

Who We Seek to Support

The programme may support:

- Families affected by natural or other emergencies
- Economically vulnerable households
- Displaced or crisis-affected communities
- Children and students affected by disasters
- Women, older persons and persons with disabilities
- Small farmers and livelihood-dependent households
- Families facing loss of shelter, essential belongings or livelihoods
- Other vulnerable groups identified through needs assessment

Humanitarian Response Pathway

ASSESS → PRIORITISE → RESPOND → SUPPORT → RECOVER → REHABILITATE → BUILD RESILIENCE

Expected Impact

Through appropriate interventions and partnerships, the programme seeks to contribute to:

- Timely humanitarian assistance
- Improved access to essential necessities
- Support for affected and vulnerable households

- Greater dignity and well-being during crisis
- Continuity of essential services where feasible
- Livelihood recovery and rehabilitation
- Stronger community participation
- Improved preparedness and resilience

Our Vision

A future where communities affected by emergencies can access timely, dignified and appropriate support and have opportunities to recover, rebuild and strengthen their resilience.

Our Commitment

ISLAH believes humanitarian response should go beyond immediate relief. Where circumstances permit, our efforts will seek to connect emergency assistance with recovery, rehabilitation, livelihood restoration and community resilience.

“Relief meets an immediate need. Recovery restores possibilities. Resilience prepares communities for tomorrow.”

Shelter, Clothing & Necessities Support

Restoring Essential Comfort. Protecting Dignity. Supporting Families Through Crisis.

Overview

During disasters and humanitarian emergencies, families can lose or become separated from the necessities that make everyday life possible. Damage to homes, displacement, loss of belongings and disruption of household resources can place already vulnerable families under severe pressure.

The Shelter, Clothing & Basic Necessities Support initiative seeks to help affected and vulnerable households access essential items and appropriate emergency support, based on assessed needs and available resources.

Our Objective

To support families facing humanitarian hardship with essential household, clothing and shelter-related assistance that helps protect dignity, safety and basic well-being during and after emergencies.

Our Approach

01. Emergency Household Support

Facilitating essential household items for families whose belongings have been damaged, lost or disrupted during emergencies.

02. Shelter-Related Assistance

Supporting appropriate temporary shelter-related needs where feasible, particularly for families affected by displacement or damage to their homes.

03. Clothing & Seasonal Essentials

Supporting essential clothing and other appropriate items according to seasonal conditions and household needs.

04. Family Necessities

Where appropriate, assistance may include bedding, basic household articles, hygiene materials and other essential necessities.

05. Need-Based Distribution

Support will be guided by identified needs, vulnerability, local circumstances and available resources, with emphasis on fair and responsible distribution.

Implementation Approach

- Temporary shelter-related support
- Clothing and seasonal clothing
- Blankets and bedding
- Basic household necessities
- Hygiene and personal-care materials
- Essential family supplies
- Emergency household kits
- Support for families affected by loss or damage
- Other appropriate necessities identified through needs assessment

Who We Seek to Support

Priority may be given to:

- Families affected by disasters and emergencies
- Displaced households
- Families whose homes or belongings have been damaged
- Economically vulnerable households
- Women-headed and vulnerable households
- Children and families with heightened needs
- Older persons and persons with disabilities
- Other households identified through appropriate assessment

Support Pathway

IDENTIFY NEED → PRIORITISE → MOBILISE → DISTRIBUTE → FOLLOW UP → SUPPORT RECOVERY

Expected Impact

The initiative seeks to contribute to:

- Improved access to essential necessities
- Greater safety and comfort during emergencies
- Support for displaced and affected families
- Protection of dignity during periods of hardship
- Assistance with basic household recovery
- Greater community participation in humanitarian response
- Better transition from immediate assistance towards recovery

Our Vision

Communities affected by emergencies should not have to face the loss of basic necessities alone. Through compassionate and responsible support, vulnerable families can regain a greater sense of security, dignity and stability.

“In times of crisis, restoring basic necessities is also about restoring dignity.”

ISLAH

Seasonal & Disaster-Specific Relief Support

Responding to Seasonal Vulnerability. Supporting Communities When Needs Rise.

Overview

Seasonal conditions and local disasters can create serious challenges for vulnerable households. Floods may affect homes, agriculture and mobility; severe winter can create hardship for people without adequate clothing or bedding; heatwaves can increase health and water-related risks; storms, fires and other local emergencies can suddenly disrupt family life and livelihoods.

The Seasonal & Disaster-Specific Relief Support initiative seeks to facilitate timely, need-based support during such periods, with particular attention to vulnerable and underserved rural communities.

Our Objective

To support communities facing seasonal hardship or disaster-specific emergencies through appropriate relief, awareness and community-based interventions, subject to assessed needs and available resources.

Our Approach

01. Flood Relief Support

Where feasible, support may include essential food items, drinking water, hygiene materials, household necessities, clothing and other appropriate assistance for flood-affected families.

02. Winter Relief Support

Seasonal assistance may include blankets, warm clothing, bedding and other appropriate necessities for vulnerable households facing severe winter conditions.

03. Heatwave Support

Depending on local needs, interventions may include drinking-water awareness, hydration support, community awareness and other appropriate assistance during extreme heat.

04. Storm & Extreme Weather Response

Support may be facilitated for communities affected by storms, heavy rainfall and other extreme-weather events according to assessed requirements.

05. Fire & Local Emergency Support

Where resources and partnerships permit, appropriate assistance may be considered for families affected by fires and other sudden local emergencies.

Who We Seek to Support

Attention may be given to:

- Vulnerable rural households
- Families affected by floods and extreme weather
- Children and elderly persons
- Women and persons with disabilities
- Economically vulnerable families
- Families facing loss of shelter or essential belongings
- Small farmers and livelihood-dependent households
- Other groups identified through needs assessment

Expected Impact

The initiative seeks to contribute to:

- Timely seasonal relief

- Support for disaster-affected families
- Improved access to essential necessities
- Greater awareness of seasonal risks
- Community participation in emergency response
- Better preparedness for recurring seasonal challenges
- Stronger links between relief and recovery

Our Vision

Communities should be better prepared to face seasonal and disaster-related challenges, with vulnerable families able to access appropriate support when circumstances become difficult.

“Prepared communities respond better. Compassionate action helps them recover stronger.”

Livelihood Recovery & Rehabilitation Support

From Relief to Recovery. Restoring Livelihoods. Rebuilding Resilience.

Overview

For many rural families, a disaster does not end when the immediate emergency is over. Loss of livestock, agricultural inputs, tools, equipment, employment, small businesses or other productive assets can continue to affect household income long after the crisis.

The Livelihood Recovery & Rehabilitation Support initiative focuses on helping affected households move from immediate relief towards recovery, rehabilitation and greater livelihood resilience.

Our Objective

To facilitate appropriate livelihood recovery and rehabilitation support for disaster-affected and vulnerable households, helping them restore productive capacity, explore sustainable income opportunities and rebuild greater economic resilience.

Our Approach

01. Livelihood Needs Assessment

Understanding how an emergency has affected household income, employment, agriculture, livestock, small businesses and productive assets.

02. Restoration of Productive Assets

Where feasible and appropriate, support may focus on essential productive assets, tools, inputs or resources needed to restart livelihood activities.

03. Agriculture & Allied Livelihood Recovery

For rural households, recovery may include support related to agriculture, livestock, allied activities and other locally relevant livelihood systems.

04. Skills & Income Opportunities

Where appropriate, linking affected individuals with skills development, vocational opportunities, entrepreneurship and income-generating pathways.

05. Small Enterprise Recovery

Supporting, where feasible, the revival or rebuilding of small rural enterprises and livelihood activities affected by emergencies.

06. Institutional & Market Linkages

Connecting communities with relevant government schemes, financial institutions, markets, training providers and development partners wherever appropriate.

Implementation Approach

- Agriculture and farm livelihood recovery
- Livestock and allied activities
- Restoration of productive assets
- Tools, equipment and livelihood inputs
- Skills development and vocational opportunities
- Rural entrepreneurship
- Small enterprise recovery
- Women and youth livelihood opportunities
- Market and institutional linkages
- Climate-resilient livelihood practices

Who We Seek to Support

The initiative may focus on:

- Disaster-affected rural households
- Small and marginal farmers
- Livelihood-dependent families
- Small rural entrepreneurs
- Women and youth affected by livelihood disruption
- Workers and self-employed persons facing crisis-related income loss
- Vulnerable households requiring recovery support

From Relief to Resilience

ISLAH seeks to encourage a progressive pathway:

RELIEF → RECOVERY → REHABILITATION → RESTORATION → LIVELIHOOD → RESILIENCE

Expected Impact

The initiative seeks to contribute to:

- Restoration of affected livelihoods
- Improved access to productive resources
- Greater livelihood diversification
- Skills and income opportunities
- Recovery of small rural enterprises
- Stronger participation of women and youth
- Better access to institutional and market linkages
- Greater household economic resilience
- Stronger community capacity to recover from future shocks

Our Vision

A disaster-affected family should have an opportunity not only to receive relief, but also to recover, rebuild its livelihood and regain greater economic independence.

Our Commitment

ISLAH seeks to connect humanitarian response with sustainable development. Through appropriate partnerships, community participation and need-based interventions, we aim to help create a pathway from crisis and dependency towards recovery, dignity and resilience.

“Relief helps a family through today. Livelihood recovery helps build the strength to face tomorrow.”
